

The Foreigner Character Breakdown

Staff Sergeant “Froggy” LeSueur

Froggy is well-fed and flushed with the spirit of adventure. He is a career military officer in the British Army and a longtime friend of Betty Meeks and Charlie Baker.

Age: Late 40's

Accent: British

Charlie Baker

Charlie seems quietly, somehow permanently, lost. His wife, Mary, considers him shatteringly, profoundly boring. He's not good at making idle conversation and has an active fear of talking.

Age: 25-45

Accent: British

Betty Meeks

Betty is the chatterbox owner of the Meeks's Fishing Lodge Resort. She is a longtime friend of Froggy LeSeuer.

Age: 50-75

Accent: Georgia

Catherine Simms

Catherine is engaged to Reverend David Lee. She was a debutante and was made the guardian of her younger brother Ellard when their father died.

Age: 20-35

Accent: Georgia

Ellard Simms

Ellard is Catherine's baby brother. There doesn't, we must admit, seem to be much to him. It took Ellard three years to learn to read. He is a lumpy, overgrown, backward youth, who spends much of his time kneading something tiny and invisible in front of his chest.

Age: 15-45

Accent: Georgia

Reverend David Marshall Lee

David is engaged to Catherine Simms. He has a friendly, open face. He is neither the stereotypically pallid, remove young divinity student, nor the hearty, backslapping evangelist. He seems rather to be a regular fella – humorous and open and, it would appear, a good young man to have on your side.

Age: 30-50

Accent: Georgia

Owen Musser

Owen is the newly appointed property inspector for Tilghman County. He has a dank presence. Owen served as a soldier in the Vietnam War.

Age: 25-45

Accent: THICK Georgia
